WE NOMINATE

Joseph Hilary Hunt, a lifelong Princetonian and one of the most courageous members of this community, who Saturday evening—as he is about to embark upon a new career in the Far West—will be the honored guest at a public testimonial dinner sponsored by the organization he helped found, Nassau Aerie No. 2732, Fraternal Order of Eagles. Identified for the past four years with the Computer Project here at the Institute for Advanced Study (a pioneering venture developed under the direction of John von Neumann of the Atomic Energy Commission), this self-educated, 36-year old electronics technician has made one of the inspiring "Princeton comebacks" of recent years and in so doing has never lost sight of what he terms "doing the right things for others."

Now preparing to move his family to California, where he will join the engineering staff of the Stanford Research Institute at Menlo Park, Hunt in the winter of 1949 received the sort of jolt that often leads to blind despair: confinement in the State Tuberculosis Sanitarium at Glen Gardner. There he was to remain for 30 long months. However, instead of bowing to forces beyond control and fretting about an early return to the Pennsylvania Railroad, he capitalized upon a basic interest in electronics, read extensively and sharpened his qualifications for a new field of endeavor. His spare-time in the hospital he devoted to "cheering others," stitching some 4,200 feet of yarn into a flag for the Nassau Aerie and making a gavel for the Eagles from wood from the "old White House."

Back in Princeton in 1951, and shortly thereafter installed as president of the Princeton Eagles, Hunt entered upon another, equally compelling family crisis, the prolonged and near-critical illness of his wife. Again the Hunts prevailed and it was in this period, while carrying unconscionably heavy loads, that Hunt started being tapped for state offices in his fraternal order. With his wife's recovery, he accepted the assistant chairmanship of the New Jersey Boystown Fund, served as "civil defense reporter" at the Eagles' national gathering in Milwaukee and advanced to the position of Senior Trustee, a post that leads directly to the New Jersey presidency and involves the planning and conduct of the state convention at Atlantic City this month.

Hunt, a graduate of Princeton High School in 1938 and a member of a New Jersey family that settled in present-day Mercer County long before the Revolution, has probably been associated with as many service projects as any living Princetonian. A fellow officer of the Eagles puts it this way: "we get the credit but he does all the work." Hunt has organized summer softball leagues, Easter Egg Hunts and Christmas Basket collections, has helped establish a continuing high school essay contest and has given countless hours to such causes as the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund, the March of Dimes, Crusade for Freedom, Chapel of the Four Chaplains in Philadelphia and Berlin Haus, an American-backed youth program in Western Germany.

For insisting, even when working hardest, that service to others is the "real reason for living;" for inspiring the kind of unsolicited respect that led more than 200 Princetonians—without his knowledge—to call his record to Town Topics' attention; for understanding all that is connoted by faith, hope and love; he is the Editors' nominee for

"NEW LOOK" SUMMER

Only Us Chickens Here. Princeton was in the throes of a traditional June graduation week this week, with well over 1,000 young hopeful citizens headed for the wide, wide world from the University and Princeton High School, and the great flurry of commencement excitment seemed to herald the customary mass exodus from town. But it wasn't so. The "new" Princeton wore a "new look" for the summer of 1956.

True, a great many Princetonians were preparing for at least a two-week junket to the seashore. However, it wasn't like bygone days, when Nassau Street resembled a Tom Mix-type ghost trail and nary an auto whisked in front of a summer ambler en route to the now-departed Jigger Man's friendly hot dog stand.

Getting set for summer, 1956, Princeton noticed the absence of 3,000-plus campus inhabitants, but not seriously. There were too many other things happening. Princeton was alive with builders, who don't go away when the sun shines and the day is longer; builders who were rapidly re-facing the sides of Nassau Street and completing or planning large-scale structures all the way from the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks to the Township's north boundary.

The "new" Princeton resident appeared to be more a white-collar, 50-week breadwinner than a man with time on his hands through July and August. He was no longer bothered unbearably by New Jersey's humidity because most Princeton office buildings are well-air conditioned. The drugstore cowboy who once remarked, "There ain't nobody here but us chickens," could hardly fail to realize that only a few roosters were leaving the roost.

THEY WHOOPED 'EM UP

Gone, But Not Forgotten. Of course, the departure of last weekend's large (5,000) thong of gay Reunion visitors left the campus—and the town — with a temporary feeling of emptiness. Princeton University's loyal alumni never miss when it comes to leaving their mark here, and this year was no exception.

Many reuners and sidewalk spectators noted that 1956 costs had cut the number of bands and floats from Saturday's P-rade, but they admitted they never saw a more enthusiastic assemblage —a happy clan made happier by the fact that the rain held back (even through commencement day). There were certain other elements to dampen the proceedings, such as the unknown theif who clad himself in a Class of '55 costume and stole $500 from alumni sleeping in different dormitories; the bad couldn't come close to the good exhibited by Princeton's spirited brethren.

That great intangible—"Princeton spirit" — was in evidence throughout the long weekend; in fact, in too many instances to mention. One of three members back (all the way from California) for the Class of 1886's 70th Reunion was on hand for the first time in exactly 71 years. He had left college as a junior-because of ill health.

The Class of '31, striving for a new attendance record, drew a crowd of 337 classmates for its 25th celebration—just 10 shy of the all-time mark. The Class of '06, with 102 of its 162 living members back for their 50th anniversary, led the pack in the all-important matter of percentages.

Perhaps symbolic of this year's Reunion history was the authentic tale of the wife of one alumnus, heading back for his 20th from Louisiana, who discovered late last month that the household budget was severely stretched. "After our fourth straight supper of practically eating hash out of the can," she said, "I asked my husband sort of wistfully if we couldn't cash one or two of our War Bonds."

"Holy smoke, no!" was the reply she received from the ardent Princetonian. Deciding that she should become realistic in a way he would understand, the enduring wife asked what he expected to do about his 20th Reunion if he wouldn't even do something about feeding his family.

"What in the world do you think the War Bonds are for?" he asked.

Sixth Area Fatality. While still seeking ways and means to halt the Princeton area's alarming number of fatal and near-fatal auto accidents—a rising total that is also evidenced in 1956 county and state trends—the Township this week recorded the tragic demise of Emlin Smith, 106 Birch Avenue, who died in Princeton Hospital of a broken neck more than three months following the crash that injured him. His death upped the area's number of traffic fatalities to six for the year.

The driver of the auto in the one-car mishap resulting in Mr. Smith's death, Wilson Nelson, 7 Leigh Avenue, was convicted of reckless driving after the accident. Township officials predicted this week that he will now go before the Grand Jury on a presented indictment to face a more serious charge.

Not all news from Princeton Township was bad. For example, highly regarded Princeton Research Park got its final okay from the Township Committee on Monday evening when the powers-that-be passed amendments to the zoning ordinance on second and third readings. As soon as building permits have been obtained and utilities arranged—probably late this month — the campus-type layout will commence taking shape.

Henry J. Frank, 273 Jefferson Road, was the lone Township resident to voice a difference of opinion at the park's public hearing. He contended that the development would "generate a terrific amount of traffic" from Trenton and elsewhere. Counterpunching, Mayor John H. Wallace Jr. assured the dissenter that the Planning Board had decided long ago that the Township cannot be restricted to residential use only, and he stated flatly that he considered the park "the highest and least objectionable type of business".

Working Near the Railroad. Though Mr. Frank limited his concern to the Township's growth, other members of the area citizenry took a long look this week at the possibility that industry—perhaps undesirable industry—might locate out-of-the-Township but in Princeton's backyard in the all-too-near future. They thought particularly of the ever-new signs of industry creeping toward Princeton Junction, along the railroad, from both directions.

With these ominous considerations in mind, anxious participants in the steering committee of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association called a day-long skull session for the Nassau Tavern this Friday. Their intention: To promote the quick study of land use in the Millstone River area, and thereby determine what zoning to recommend for the entire area. With help from the now-awakening County Planning Board, they hoped to steer the right kind of industry, if any, to the right places near Princeton.

Back in the Township, there were other items of general interest this week. The Township Committee passed a resolution okaying alternate bus routes for Suburban Transit of New Brunswick, which now plans to provide Princeton-to-New York express bus service along non-residential Princeton streets. The Township will retain control over where the buses are to stop, thus eliminating strictly local business, and the bus company will start operating here as soon as the ICC grants final approval.

Short shots: (1) The Township and the Borough Engineering Department, in something of a stew over the Institute of Advanced Study's request to erect three buildings over a trunk sewer right-of-way (against state and federal as well as local policy), must decide soon whether to ruin the Institute's elaborate landscape plans or have the Institute pay for one of two sewer by-passes. (2) Princeton Shopping Center has asked the Township for permission to put up 20 more directional signs around the municipality—a request which may not even approach Center—caused squabbles of recent vintage.

PERSONALITIES

Dr. John Q. Stewart, Associate Professor of Astronomical Physics and a member of Princeton University's Department of Astronomy for the past 35 years, who this week was awarded the highest honor the Princeton Class of 1915 can confer upon a classmate, the 1915 Merit Cup for "distinguished service to others." A two-time recipient of the coveted cup was the late James V. Forrestal, the Nation's first Secretary of Defense.

Frank Haronian, senior psychologist at Somerset County Guidance Center in Somerville since 1954 and former psychologist with the Mental Hygiene Bureau in Trenton, who this week was appointed psychologist for the Township school system by the Township Board of Education. The new faculty member is also a member of the American Phychological Association, the Eastern Psychological Association and the New Jersey Psychological Association.

James G. Campbell Jr., whose resignation as Township tax collector was accepted "without regret" by the Township Committee, which then turned around and okayed him as a member of the governing body, replacing Hugh D. Wise Jr., whose resignation was accepted "with regret." Meanwhile, Mrs. Edna G. Mulvey, veteran deputy collector, was named acting tax collector for the municipality.

ROUND UP

Ordinance or no ordinance, Borough officials decided this week that it's a good idea to ban consumption of beer and alcoholic beverages in Marquand Park—as a matter of prudent policy. . . . Three Montgomery Township residents have instituted legal action to keep 3-M out of the Hopewell area, so the fireworks may not be over, despite the Township Committee's recent "green light" flash.

Firehouse Shift Set. The first shift in location of a borough firehouse in some three-quarters of a century moved a step nearer completion at Tuesday's council meeting with introduction of an ordinance to finance the proposed removal of the Hook and Ladder headquarters from Witherspoon to North Harrison Street. The structure for which $220,000 will be allocated (including the cost of a borough garage), will provide a central starting point for firemen in the new heavily-populated northeastern sector of the community.

Council also approved outlays of $37,500 each for improvements in the new incinerator and sewage plant. The public hearing on the $295,000 capital improvement expenditure is set for July 10.

At this week's session, the governing body also:

Heard further lengthy discussion of the merits and demerits of Urban Redevelopment as it may or may not affect the John-Witherspoon Street area but left the matter still very much in the planning stage. One reason (as Mayor Sturges pointed out): "The Housing Authority has no funds for new projects except as provided by action of the mayor and council, either through a Federal Agency or by use of Borough Funds."

With that in mind, council took into consideration the suggestion of Bruce H. French, executive director of the Housing Authority, the advisability of asking Washington's Public Housing Administration for 50 more low-cost units, bringing the number in the municipality to 100. "Eighty-five confirmed applications for such rentals are already on file," Mr. French advised the governing body.

Traffic problems likewise underwent full review. Loss of the Edwards Place parking lot to the University (its owner) was confirmed. Murray Place residents petitioned their street be made one-way or restricted to one-side porking because of mounting traffic flow, while Hamilton and Hawthorne residents asked diminution of truck traffic. Each request bore some 40 signatures.

The now-traditional discussion of a through street to parallel Nassau culminated in shelving the project for 1956 inasmuch as funds cannot be budgeted for the undertaking prior to 1957. However, the borough will accept the YMCA-proffered deed for a 50-foot right of way between John and Bayard Lane and will proceed with a survey of the area.

In other action, the evening of Friday, June 22, was set as the date for the annual Fire Department Inspection. The parade will lead to ceremonies at Olden Avenue at 7:30.

Harry B. Warren was commended in a resolution for 29 years of outstanding work as tax assessor which will coincide with his July 1 retirement. Mrs. Courtland Perkins was named to a new six-year term as the board of education's representative on the planning board, and Russell Shangle's position on the police force was advanced to rank of patrolman following completion of his probationary year on June 7.

Salk Shots Continue. William Kleinberg, the Township's Acting Health Officer, has announced that Salk vaccine injections will continue. Two clinics ot the Valley Road School will be open this Thursday from 8:30 to 10:30.

Another clinic for pregnant women, pre-school children and Township children attending other schools will be held Friday at Township Hall at the same hours. Request forms are available through the Valley Road School and at the Township Hall. Attendance at the Friday clinic with a responsible adult will be required unless a signed request accompanies the child.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS

Preparations for the coming eight-week season of the University Players get under way in earnest this weekend as the group assembles and goes into rehearsal for "Saint Joan," which will open the schedule.

"Saint Joan" makes its bow on Saturday, June 23, and run through Saturday, June 30, for a total of seven performances. Murray Theatre on the University Campus, given extra air-conditioning this summer, will house seven succeeding productions from a schedule designed to please and interest the summer theatregoer.

Ticket and weekday subscription card sales have opened. For full ticket and schedule information see the advertisement below. The box office telephone is 1-3539.

Georgine Hall of Princeton has been cast in the title role of Shaw's serio-comic dramatization of Joan of Arc. Mrs. Hall has appeared in many productions here and was seen most recently in the lead for Odets' "Clash by Night."

Other parts are set but the final casting will not be made until the group has assembled Friday under the eyes of producer Morton L. Goolde, a Princeton senior, and his professional director, Mike Kesdekian, a veteran of many productions in various media in this country and Europe.

The new Players are drawn from all parts of the country, various colleges and from off-Broadway players. One member gained his early experience on a river showboat.

This season will be the fourth revival of the highly-regarded young theatrical group. University Players were established under a good deal of Princeton impetus in 1928. The three most recent revivals have been housed in Princeton's Murray Theatre, but the group continues to search in all directions for its membership.

The program for the coming season represents a balance of comedy and some of the best established serious works in the theatre. Shakespeare, Shaw, Strindberg and Lorca will be represented, along with a half-dozen contemporary playwrights.

The season following "Saint Joan": "Charlie's Aunt," "Blood Wedding," "The Grass Harp," one-act plays by Wilder, Saroyan and Tennessee Williams; "The Father," an American premiere PLAYERS' DIRECTOR: Mike Kesdekian, who has staged 75 plays in this country, England and Ireland, will direct the University Players eight-week season this summer.

to be announced shortly, and finally "As You Like It."

McCARTER THEATRE

The McCarter called it a season with "Characters and Chicanery" over Reunion weekend, but look for an early September start for the theatre and plans for the most active and varied year in its history.

Richard Pleasant and Isadora Bennett, the managing directors, are in the process of confirming a show for the first full weekend in September and have a number of other productions lined up already.

"Characters and Chicanery" proved a light and winning entry from Norris Houghton's Phoenix Theatre. Cornelia Otis Skinner and Fred Keating were a very nice combination and their combined effort rolled along smoothly.

Mr. Keating made a particularly warm appearance, spicing his wonderful tricks of magic with lots of fast patter, much of it directed at youthful volunteers from the audience on Thursday.

It can be reported from the closest vantage point that Mr. Keating's sleights of hand are almost impossible to catch. Houdini's trick of swallowing needles and thread and bringing them up threaded is a marvelous mystery, and Mr. Keating's own famous "birdcage trick" mesmerizes the eyes.

Miss Skinner as always is a wonderful actress in her demanding sketches. Most of them are familiar to those who have witnessed her earlier shows, and her best surprise turned out to be the disappearing rabbit trick that wound matters up with Mr. Keating a bemused standby magician.

This corner's objections to Miss Skinner's material stand as before. Her satire is a bit too broad and somehow seems to be planned for audiences of women's clubs or something. And too often viewpoint is over-done; or an idea or word just doesn't fit the character. Still, she performs her sketches with marvelous skill and spirit.

BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE

A successful two-week run of the Broadway comedy, "The Seven-Year Itch," comes to a close Saturday at New Hope's Bucks County Playhouse. Donald Cook has the principal role in the story about a "summer bachelor" who encounters a variety of problems with an alluring miss from the apartment above his while his wife is away in the country. Louise King provides the allure.

Others in the cast are Scottie MacGregor as the vacationing wife, Joseph Macauley as the visiting psychiatrist, Gladys Holland and Joan Force. Direction is by Robert Caldwell.

The Playhouse departs from Broadway hits on Monday when a new comedy, "The Lesser Comores," opens for a week's run. The title is traceable to the little-known islands in the Indian Ocean which bear that name and exist as a French colony.

The play is the work of Albert Husson, who was responsible for "My Three Angels." Establishing a triangle as its theme, it involves a scientist who is dedicated to his laboratory, his attractive wife and charmingly indolent brother who slowly but surely become dedicated to each other.

Added starters include an enigmatic Hindu house servant; a wise and understanding priest; a hysterical labrotory worker (female); an all-seeing French detective and an unseen but highly active saboteur. It is an unwitting move on the latter's part which eventually unlocks the triangle.

Herbert Berghof, who staged "Waiting for Gudot," is the director, Wednesday and Saturday matinees are included in the schedule.

MUSIC CIRCUS

"The King and I" begins its third week at the Lambertville Music Circus on Tuesday. The Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, which ran through 1,246 Broadway performances, will be on view in the big tent until July 1.

IN NEW COMEDY: Jerome Cowan will have the lead in "The Lesser Comores," new comedy opening Monday at Bucks County Playhouse.

Irene Manning and Alfred Cihelli appear as Anna and the King, while the cast also includes a number of original members of the show who were seen in New York and on the lengthy road tour. Among the hit tunes are the familiar "Hello, Young Lovers," "Getting to Know You," "I Whistle a Happy Tune" and "Something Wonderful."

THE PLAYHOUSE

Bhowani Junction (June 14-16) is a pot-pourri of travelogue, political expose and romance, with Ava Gardner, as the "beautiful half-caste," figuring prominently in all three. The story takes place in India during the unruly days of the Indian struggle for freedom from England to retain control. Miss Gardner, as an officer in the Women's Auxiliary of the Indian Army, is attracted alternately by a young Indian and her commanding officer, an Englishman (the latter played by Stewart Granger). The photography makes the picture worthwhile.

23 Paces to Baker Street (June 17-19) is a murder mystery with an authentic London setting and numerous Sherlock Holmes overtones. The tale is that of a blind playwright who overhears a kidnapping plot, gets nowhere with disbelieving police and sets out to track the criminals down himself. A tightly-written, well-played film unfolds, with the amateur detective providing a combination of light comedy and suspense as he outsmarts Scotland Yard.

Van Johnson has the lead, with Vera Miles playing opposite him and Cecil Parker heading the supporting cast. Standard but acceptable detective story fare.

D-Day the 6th of June (June 20-23) has a misleading title in that it is by no means primarily an epic drama of the Allies' Normandy invasion but a love story which has its climax on that famous day. Robert Taylor, Richard Todd and Diana Wynter, a British actress, head the cast.

The story traces the romance of an English girl whose sweetheart is fighting in Africa and an American officer stationed in London, far away from his wife. Their loneliness brings them together, with D-Day writing their future. A tendency toward repetition, plus a number of drawn out scenes detract from the overall effectiveness of the picture.

It's New to Us

I Remember Papa. Why not a Hathaway shirt for a remembrance on this Father's Day? English Shop has them at 5 Palmer Square, woven with a light hand for summer. One is called a "Gay Nineties" print, Hathaway knows why. It's white batiste with pin dots in black and tan. Another batiste is orange with a widely spaced design that will remind you of paisley.

Cotton Madras makes another stack of Hathaways. These are dark or bright, depending on Father's taste and yours. Bright yellows cross with red and grey, white pairs with steel grey and charcoal.

For a really special present, try a Madras sports jacket. Some of these combinations are more subdued than those in the shirts, but te colors are still there. Green, gold and rust in minute checks, black and rust in another, wild and miraculous plaids in the rest.

Madras appears again in ties and belts for wear with summer slacks. These slacks might be 7 ounce dacron and wool tropicals or light-weight all-wools.

For a real Gay Nineties effect, let Father try on a pair of Regatta striped shorts. These are a creamy cotton with just a silver of red stripe; in fact, it's the reverse side of a red-striped cloth and you know how some fabrics look when they are wrong side out. In this case it makes a fainter and less obvious red stripe. Blue, if you want to carry out the Regatta idea.

With the shorts, why not a linen jacket? They come in navy, tan, green, natural or grey.

Thorne's Drug Store, down Nassau at 168, suggests toiletries for Father's Day presents. We know a father whose birthday is so conveniently located in the calendar year that he never has to buy so much as a bottle of shaving lotion, what with Christmas, birthday, Valentine's Day and Father's Day. (Although he does admit to a long dry stretch because February is so far from June.)

Yardley, Shulton's Old Spice, Coty's "Preferred Stock," Gourielli's "Tang"—names that are reliable stand-bys to every member of the family—all of them are at Thorne's with a variety of products.

All A-Shore! Ship 'N Shore starts its summer cruise with a new overblouse, now available at S.B. Harris, 32 Witherspoon. In pastels or khaki, it has a banded bottom and a front tab that crosses the breast pocket and buttons at the edge of the blouse. A breezy boat neck, banded with a two-inch collar, cools off another summer blouse in pastels (including orchid) and white. It's $2.98.

This store now has some excellent value in $3.98 cotton dresses, simply cut and designed with taste. One is sleeveless, collarless, buttoned three-quarters down the front with white buttons against its sheer grey and blue plaid. Everglaze has been used in another dress with a low square neck, small buttons and the same three-quarter front closing. It comes in navy, pink or blue.

Horizontal stripes have been drawn in blue, black and grey against a white ground. Skirt is full, bodice is punctuated with three flat bows. (Stripes may also be had in brown and black on white.)

In the half-size collection, there is a dress of linen-like cotton with scallops bordering its pocket and the edge of its collar. Black buttons close the front on navy, coral or aqua.

Another half-size has short raglan sleeves, a neckline heightened by a band that runs around the neck and down the front, and mock pockets treated with the same band. It's narrow vertical stripes are slenderizing to large sizes, and its blue-and-green or red-and-rose combination is flattering to white hair.

On the men's side, Harris has some Bermuda shorts in blue cord, chino, navy or brown for $3.95. Some have a belted "Ivy League" back, others are plain.

"What! A Book?" Last thing any child, newly sprung from school, wants to hear about is a Good Book. But summer will drone on and there will be hot afternoons, and rest periods at camp.

So we suggest a visit to the Princeton Book Mart, 11 Palmer Square West. Buy your child a few of the new prize-winning books, tuck them in his camp suitcase, or keep them for a what'll-I-do-now? kind of day.

Incidentally, the Mart has all the books on the New York Times Book Review's recent list of summer reading for children.

For the little ones, there is William Pene du Bois' "Lion," illustrated by him with his customary color and imagination. Excellent for ages six to nine, but older ones will read it too.

The New York Herald Tribune gave one of its Spring Book Festival awards this year to "Cold Hazard," a north Atlantic adventure story for boys over 12. Another book in the same age group is "Beaver Water," a tale of mountain men and trapping in the northwest.

Younger boys and girls—around 10—will enjoy this year's Newbery Medal winner. It's "Carry On, Mr. Bowditch," the true story of Nathanial Bowditch who wrote "The Practical Navigator."

For 8-11 year olds, try "Mrs. Wappinger's Secret," by Florence Hightower. It's a treasure story for boys or girls. Then there's John Langstaff's "Frog Went A-Courtin'," a re-telling of the 400-year-old Scotch folk tale with big bulging pictures by Feodor Rojankovsky that will delight 4-8-year-olds hearing the story for the first time.

All Wet. Wading pool proprietors will enjoy browsing in the new Cole swim suit collection at The Little Clothes Line, 53 Palmer Square. Rumba pants are full bloomers with two waggish ruffles sewed across the back. They come in the most minute sizes, in solids or prints, at $3.95.

Full suits, at $5.95 and $6.95, have the familiar shirred Cole front. They are designed with bloomer legs, a modest skirt, or a functional tank-suit leg.

For boys, sizes 3-6, the Clothes Line has a cabana set consisting of boxer shorts ($3.50) and sleeveless, mandarin collared jacket ($2.95) Set comes in navy, green or red with a white block-print design.

The diaper set, introduced a few summers ago, has returned again. The Clothes Line has one-plastic-lined pants and a loose little seersucker shirt that ties across the shoulders and lets in all the breezes.

Roosters in red appear on the pants of another set. Its top is a loose smock for girls, a vest for boys. A white terry jacket, cut wide and flaring, has the rooster print for a lining. It's $4.95..

For a little girl, party-bound, there's a pinafore of glazed chintz in a deep cream with red roses. A separate white blouse goes along and there is a poke bonnet in two parts. Unbutton the two and each one spreads flat for ironing. Bonnet top is solid pink, the stiff brim is chintz.

Maybe dolly feels the heat, too who knows? With her in mind, a solicitous manufacturer of little girl's night-gowns has made a doll's gown, exactly like "mother's." It's pinned to the front and goes along without extra fare. Both gowns, is pastel seersucker, $3.95.

"Front Page" set tries to catch them. This story of reporters who turn detective features Dana Andrews, Ida Lupino, George Sanders, Thomas Mitchell and Vincent Price as the newspapermen who eventually track down John Barrymore Jr., a homicidal maniac. A number of office problems are also worked out for the satisfaction of those who like order with their blood and lust.

Hilda Crane (June 18 - 20) records the involved story of a twice-divorced woman who returns from New York to her home town and promptly becomes involved with another pair of men. One offers her marriage, one an affair (because he doesn't trust her) and the mother of her fiance —apparently of the same opinion—tries to buy her off. Jean Simmons and Guy Madison are in the lead roles of a picture that is basically unmoving. In Cinema-Scope and color.

The Birds and the Bees (June 21-23) stars the television comic George Gobel and it's enough of a one-man picture so that those who do not number themselves among his fans may not find it particularly uproarious. Gobel followers, however, (and there are many) will enjoy his motion picture debut in this piece about a big-game hunter (Mr. Gobel) who is marked aboard an ocean liner as the intended victim of cardsharp David Niven and daughter Mitzi Gaynor. The latter provides further light entertainment through song and dance.

Lost Woman Found. Missing for three nights and two days from the Tenacre Foundation on The Great Road, Miss Helen G. Cohen of Walpole, Mass., was found wandering around in nearby woods after her screams caught the attention of a bulldozer operator. The missing woman, suffering from exposure and scratches, required several days' treatment at Princeton Hospital to bring her health back to normal.

The bulldozer driver, Bruce Rhodes of Hopewell, heard Miss Cohen's cries about 8:30 a.m. Saturday and, after a quick but unsuccessful search, called Township Patrolman Norman Servis to help him look. Together, they located Miss Cohen in a thicket off Ridgeview Road. She had been missing from the Christian Scientist rest home since Wednesday night.

J. B. Harrison, manager of the foundation, told police Miss Cohen committed herself to the home 18 months ago. From her bed in the hospital, the Massachusetts woman told officers that she would not recommit herself to the institution, where she had been free to enter and leave as she pleased.

On-the-Job Training. Bob Weiss is a fellow who believes firmly that experience is the best teacher, and he's busy proving his point this summer.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin W. Weiss, 248 Moore Street, Bob is a senior at Cornell University's hotel management school with one term to go before graduation. He has just absorbed all the available books in his field, and now comes the time to take to the field and put the knowledge to work.

As a result, Bob Weiss is the new bartender at The Cranbury Inn, which will mark its re-opening with fanfare this Friday and Saturday evenings. He has spent considerable time behind bars —the working side of them—at formal as well as informal affairs in Ithaca, but this is his first full-time fling as a mixologist.

While bartending is a part of the overall hotel management picture that Bob is anxious to learn from the top of the bottle down, he isn't planning to make a career of it—though some of his first customers think he should. He's a hotel manager at heart and, to gain added insight into that ever-important over-all picture, he's sleeping at the inn and watching the whole operation.

Director Named for Project. S. Philip Marcus has been named the business manager of the Food Machinery and Chemical Corporation's central research laboratory which is currently under construction on Route 1.

Mr. Marcus received his B. S. and M. S. degrees in chemical engineering from the Carnegie Institute of Technology. He has served as administrative assistant to the vice president and technical director of the firm and in other departments of the organization.

Bad Week for Sheep. Graduation ceremonies—those highlights of life that are too quickly over and so long remembered—hit their peak in Princeton this week as the University's commencement exercises(see above) were held Tuesday and public schools of Borough and Township were scheduled to follow suit tonight and Friday. Eighth grade students at St. Poul's School also got into the sheepskin-passing act Tuesday evening.

Climax of the week's full graduation slate will come at 8 p.m. Friday, when some 215 Princeton High seniors pick up their much-sought diplomas in student-planned, student-enacted ceremonies at McCarter Theatre. Barbara Dilley, Jean Stratton, Morgan Holcomb and Steven Young will be four seniors in the spotlight, speaking on "The Way We Face the World," with an assist from the PHS chorus.

Sole adult aid will be given by the Rev. Richard H. Luecke, offering the invocation; Mrs. Thelma Young, president of the Board of Education, in charge of handing out diplomas, and Irving W. Mershon, board secretary, who will present awards to scholarship winners.

School-closing exercises at Witherspoon Street School will be conducted in the school auditorium at 10 a.m. Friday, at which time Chester R. Stroup, assistant superintendent of the Borough system, will award "move up" certificates in behalf of the Board of Education. A total of 93 eighth graders are on Mr. Stroup's promotion list.

The Witherspoon program will include brief addresses by H. B. Waxwood, school principal, and Michael Kline, assistant principal, presentation of special awards, music by the eighth grade orchestra and singing by the eighth grade girls. A rendition of the official school song by the entire student body will conclude the ceremonies.

"Hitting the Target." At 8:15 this Thursday evening, 80 graduates of Valley Road School's eighth grade will take the big step toward PHS. A choral singing group, composed of students, will entertain in the school auditorium, while Rabbi Joshua O. Haberman will deliver the commencement speech, "Hitting the Target."

Two St. Paul's eighth graders who have already "hit the target" in the right spot are Gloria Dey of Rocky Hill and Martin McGuinn, 23 Shady Brook Lane, both presented with awards by American Legion Post 76 at their school's Tuesday program. The prizes were given "for honor, courage, scholarship, leadership and service."

Fund Grows With Princeton. A goal 17% in excess of the amount raised last fall for the Community Chest has been adopted for the 1956 campaign of the United Community Fund, successor to the Chest. The sum to be sought is $159,642, higher by some $23,000 than the amount raised last year to set a Princeton record.

The budget committee's report was presented by its chairman, Gerald Nelson, who pointed out that in all, "fully 300 Princetonians have shared in the important task of determining agency budgets." John P. Poe, campaign chairman, termed the goal "large, but not out of line with the increasing needs of our growing community. I feel certain," he declared, "that our people will respond to the need and make the campaign a success."

Mr. Poe will enlist the assistance of John C. Williams, II and Thomas F. Huntington to create the large volunteer organization necessary to put the drive over the top. The three-man committee will select 17 division and special service chairmen who will in turn recruit several hundred solicitors.

Campaign dates range from October 5 through November 5, according to plans announced by Walter H. Scott, the Fund's executive director. The house-to-house solicitation is set to start October 19.

Approximately half the increase to be sought will benefit children of the Princeton area, going to such agencies as the Y.W. and Y.M.C.A., the two scouting groups, the playgrounds, Nursery School and children's work in the Family Service Bureau. Despite this trend, the combined requests of these agencies to the Fund were actually $7,500 greater than the amount allocated to them in the 1956 campaign.

The greatest increase has been granted to the Visiting Nurse Association, which will have its budget boosted from $6,500 to $11,500 to facilitate major expansion of home nursing service throughout Princeton. The Fund will also be seeking contributions for the first time for the USO ($500) and the New Jersey Welfare Council ($50).

Council Unites With Fund. The Fund's future will henceforth be linked with the Council of Community Services as a result of action taken last week by the latter organization. Coordination of the programs of the two agencies is to be effected through the services of a single secretary in the person of Mr. Scott.

The two organizations will use 120 John Street (the Dorothea House) as joint headquarters and by-laws to be approved shortly will provide interlocking membership, two directors of each serving on the other. Mrs. Everett P. Tomlinson, Council president, welcomed the move as one "which will greatly benefit both organizations and the community. The council will now function officially as the planning and study arm of the Community Fund," she announced, at the same time expressing appreciation for the experience Mr. Scott will bring to her organization.

The merger has been in the planning stages for several months, under guidance of Mrs. Darrell Johnson and Mrs. Harold Sprout for the Council, in addition to Mrs. Tomlinson. Fund representatives on the joint committee were Mrs. Donald A. Fruland, William B. Bretnall, Howard Waxwood, Jr. and Mr. Scott.

100-Mile an Hour Speeder. G. Barry Briel of Alexander Street and U. S. Route 1 learned that high speeds bring high fines at Township court Tuesday. Magistrate Louis Gerber imposed a $55 fine on the 19-year-old youth and revoked his license for a year.

Mr. Briel, a sophomore at Trenton Junior College, pleaded guilty to reckless driving on the night of May 24 when he reportedly reached speeds of 100 miles per hour on Edgerstoune Road in an attempt to elude police. His only defense was that he didn't think he was "going that fast," but he admitted that he had reached a speed of 70 miles per hour.

Mr. Briel also pleaded guilty to a second charge of failing to obey an officer and was fined $30. This offense occurred previous to the speeding incident.

Judge Gerber meted out the highest fine of the session to Robert D. Parsells of Princeton Pike. Mr. Parsells, a veteran of three-and-a-half years of Air Force duty, pleaded non vult to a charge of drunken driving and was fined $200 plus $25 court costs. In addition, his license was revoked for two years.

Strictly Red Label. Asked by Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro what made him so drunk that he caused a disturbance and used offensive language at the Charcoal Club, 184 John Street, Percy Randall, of 21 Lytle Street, admitted, "Drinking that Russian stuff." Convinced that Mr. Randall referred to vodka, the magistrate asked him how he felt the following morning, and learned that he felt "pretty bad, like I had been taking dope."

"Those Reds will sneak up on you," Mr. Chesebro advised as he considered the disorderly persons charge against the defendant. Then, he fined Mr. Randall $20 for his run-in with the fifth (and other) columns at the north side club.

Also in Municipal Court this Tuesday, Bernardo F. Rivera, a Key & Seal Club employee, learned that he hasn't improved a driver since his last traffic arrest in January. Magistrate Chesebro fined the defendant $15 for motoring without a licensed driver in his company.

On January 24, Mr. Rivera, then "practicing" on his third learner's permit, drove his own auto into the ballistics laboratory near Palmer Stadium. The impact caused considerable damage, but the driver got off by paying only a careless driving assessment because—on that occasion—he was accompanied by a licensed driver.

Magistrate Chesebro sentenced five other Princeton area motorists and three out-of-town drivers during the same court session on Tuesday. Those from this area and their difficulties included:

Mrs. Emily G. Warren, 52 Bayard Lane, failure to yield right-of-way, $20; J. B. Lake, 120 Prospect Avenue, speeding, $20; H. L. Ayer, Plainsboro, careless driving, $20; Daniel Pierson, Green Acres, speeding, $15, and John Sferra, 51 Maple Street, $2 court costs only for no parking lights.

A traffic case against John Allen, 161 John Street, charged with driving through a red light, was dismissed when the magistrate learned the defendant was rushing his wife to the hedside of her critically ill mother, who died shortly thereafter.

Princeton's 209th Commencement. Celebrating its 209th commencement with ceremonies dating back to colonial times, Princeton University this year conferred 895 bachelor and advanced degrees and nine honorary degrees upon persons drawn from the six continents. The traditionally impressive exercises were held under clear, sunny skies Tuesday morning before some 5,000 spectators, gathered in front of Nassau Hall.

In addition to the honorary degrees, awarded to distinguished Americans from varied fields of endeavor, President Harold W. Dodds presented seven different kinds of degrees, including 538 bachelor of arts, 115 bachelors of science in engineering, 59 masters of the science in engineering, 10 masters of public affairs, 56 masters of arts, 20 masters of fine arts and 97 doctors of philosophy.

Of the 120 New Jersey residents winning their bachelor degrees, eight claimed Princeton as their home. They are John H. Darma, 940 Kingston Road; Thomas S. Fulmer, 3 Ober Road; Lewis C. Kleinhans III, 1 Westcott Road; Don M. Larrimore, 222C Eisenhower Street; Robert M. Laughlin, Drake's Corner Road; Bevis Longstreth Jr., 25 Palmer Square; George B. Thomas, Elm Road; and Leonard S. Thomsen, Herrontown Road.

Mr. Larrimore, a 24-year-old Army veteran who completed four years of military service before entering the University, was among the seniors earning "double honors" at Prize Exercises on Monday. He received both the James G. Buchanan Prize, annually presented to the ranking under-graduate in the Department of Politics, and the New York Herald Prize, and award established by the late James Gordon Bennett for the outstanding essay upon a subject of contemporary interest in the domestic or foreign policy of the U.S. government.

Honorary Degrees Awarded. As a highlight of Tuesday's commencement program, Dr. Fordyce B. St. John of New York, charter trustee emeritus and University orator, presented the honorary dergee candidates to President Dodds, who conferred the degrees in this order:

Aaron Copland, composer, Doctor of Music; Henry Eyring, Dean of the Graduate School and Professor of Chemistry, University of Utah, Doctor of Science; Edmund Wilson '16, literary critic, poet, playwright, novelist, Doctor of Letters; Peter K. Emmons, '12, minister of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Scranton, Pa., Doctor of Divinity; Helen Hayes, actress, Doctor of Fine Arts; Henry T. Herald, Chancellor of New York University, Doctor of Laws; Arthur L. Goodhart, Master of University College, Oxford, Doctor of Laws; Rajkumari A. Kaur, Minister for Health, India, Doctor of Laws; and Lester B. Pearson, Secretary of State for External Affairs, Canada, Doctor of Laws.

Teen Canteen Finale. As a celebratory aftermath of this spring's graduation, Princeton High School members of the Teen Canteen will stage their last dance of the year from 8.30 to 11.30 p.m. Saturday on the roof at Bamberger's department store. It will be the second such starlight party for the teenagers, whose enthusiasm was not dampened by showers that accompanied the first outdoor dance a year ago.

Planners of the prom indicated they expect a turnout of some 100-plus couples, composed of PHS students and their guests. Members of the Teen Canteen will pay 25 cents per person for the concluding event, while guests will be assessed an extra dime each.

Saturday's dance will give next year's Teen Canteen officers, just elected, a chance to try their organizational ability. They are Davis Young, president; Benjamin McGuire, vice-president; Georgianna Dey, secretary; and Pat Gee, treasurer. Their advisor is William. Tatum of Princeton Theological Seminary.

Summer Music Courses. The Princeton High School summer music department, under the direction of Thomas Hilbish and Sylvan Friedman, will offer its fifth annual sessions of music study for young people for five weeks this summer. Classes, scheduled for mornings only, will begin June 25 and continue through July 27.

The department's instrumental program will be open to pupils from fifth grade through high school while the vocal course will enroll students from eighth through 12th grades. A traditional program by chorus, band and orchestra will climax the study period during the final week of classes. All sessions this summer will be held at the Nassau Street School.

William Holcomb, a graduate of Julliard and the University of Pennsylvania and an accomplished flute and clarinet musician, has been added to the department's teaching staff as an instructor of Woodwinds and theory. Regular faculty members include Mr. Hilbish, vocal techniques and chorus; Miss Friedman, strings and orchestra; and Walter Horner, brass instruments and band.

"OH, WE'LL WHOOP 'ER UP:" William B. Connett and Vincent Armstrong, enjoying their 42nd Princeton Reunion as well as each other's company, stop long enough to have their pictures taken and answer Question of the Week for Town Topics. Their thoughts on the changing University scene appear below with those of six other loyal alumni. (Richards Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: How has the University changed since your college days?

Location: Near and on the Princeton campus.

Charles A. Stein, Brooklyn, Class of 1896: Personally, I believe the University is much more diversified now. When I was here, Princeton had a limited, virtually unknown science division. Today, Princeton is a world leader in the different sciences, living up to its pledge of 'Princeton in the nation's service.' The change has been a remarkable one—for the better. Such developments, plus the visual growth that is very apparent, reflect the University's splendid attitude through the years.

Dr. Randolph Graham, Winchester, Va., Class of 1896: I agree wholeheartedly with Charlie Stein's observations and can't top him, but I think I ought to mention that it's wonderful to note that the love and loyalty of Princeton's alumni has not changed since our college days. For our 60th Reunion this year, for example, we drew almost half of our living Class members back. And I might boast that I have been here 60 of 64 Reunion Saturdays since entering Princeton in 1892. It's lovely to get back and see so many others back.

C. F. Harvey, Detroit, Class of 1901: Everything about the place has changed. In fact, the first day back I got lost on the campus. The P-rade was a fat failure from my point of view. There was no excitement in front of Nassau Hall, no cheering there, not as many bands as usual and the alumni didn't seem particularly interested in the traditions associated with the P-rade's formation and start. Also, as a former ball player, I was disappointed in the Princeton team's showing against Yale. The players perform lackadaisically and didn't look like they knew the fundamentals about swinging a bat. It might help a lot if the final Yale game was an important league game as it was in past years.

H. S. Morrow, Plainfield, Class of 1909: The University is much larger, of course. It offers a more varied education with far greater choices of subjects. The standards are much higher, too, so I think the students today are receiving a much better education. We all change every day, and so does Princeton, but there's no changing her wonderful qualities, or our love for her.

Vincent Armstrong, Greenwich, Conn., Class of 1914: Physically, the growth has been quite pronounced. If you hadn't been back for years, you'd never recognize the place as a matter of fact. Culturally, I'm not too sure about the changes, though I realize there have been many and I am delighted we are returning to an emphasis on the classics.

William B. Connett, New York City, Class of 1914: I can't tell you a thing about the cultural advances, but I know the students today get a better education. My son, for instance, got a better education here than I did—but I got a damned good one.

Branton H. Henderson, Rosemont, Pa., Class of 1921: Princeton is just the same as ever. The same old charm and old spirit are still here. The same—fortunately small—number of drunks pass out each year at Reunion, including one or two from my Class. I guess they'll never learn.

A. V. Kokatnur, 15 Greenview Avenue, Class of 1947: My main impression is that it has changed considerably physically, not only in increase in number of buildings but also in increase in civilians. When I started here, there were only about 300 civilians on campus and it certainly wasn't a very normal college experience. Now, it's back to normal. The P-rade is a full-scale event again and the athletic program is better now. It was difficult to figure out what the spirit was during the war years, but I can see it now. And, judging from the old grads back for their Reunions, I can see it hasn't changed.

THREE NEW OBERLIN GRADUATES: This trio of Princeton residents was among 374 students who graduated Monday at Oberlin College's 123rd Commencement exercises, at which United States Supreme Court Justice John M. Harlan gave the Commencement address. The Princetonians are (left to right) Robert McClusky, son of Mrs. George McClusky, Henderson Lane; Miss Mary Jane Caldwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Caldwell, Lake Road; and Charles Coffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Coffman, 193 Moore Street. All three received A.B. degrees.

current academic year with a flurry of activities, and did such a good job that they were asked to continue for another year in their same capacities. As year-end gestures, the group treated Sister Padua's second grade to a party because of the class' prize-winning attendance record and took the eighth grade on a graduation trip to Lake Hopatcong, with Mr. and Mrs. Austin Macauley serving as chaperones.

The successful officers, set to perform their duties until 1957, are Mrs. Anthony Zuccarello, president; Mrs. Thomas Brophy, first vice-president; Mrs. Albert Lippman, second vice-president; Mrs. Richard Goeke, third vice-president; Mrs. Reuben Johnson, treasurer; Mrs. G. R. Guthrodt, recording secretary; and Mrs. Martin McGuinn, corresponding secretary.

Postal Services at Center. Postmaster Charles F. Murray announced this week that a contract to conduct Finance Station No. 1 has been awarded to Milton G. Habeeb of Frederick Harris Inc. in the Princeton Shopping Center. The contract will take effect July 1 and remain in effect for at least two years.

Mr. Habeeb's new station will provide postal facilities consisting of money order, registry, parcel post (ordinary, Insured and C.O.D.) and the sale of all postal supplies, such as stamps, stamped envelopes and government postcards. Office hours will be published at a later date.

New Professorship Underwritten. In a new step in the field of corporation support of education, the Socony Mobil Oil Company will support a professorship in nuclear science at Princeton University, starting this fall.

The company is providing a grant of $17,000 a year to meet the salary of the professor plus research expenses. The University will establish and maintain the new chair and provide an incumbent, who will be a regular member of the faculty.

President Dodds reported that a program has been under consideration for education and research in nuclear science in relation to the various branches of engineering. It will be developed on both the graduate and undergraduate level, taking its place with studies in different fields of engineering and other nuclear studies at Princeton.

Planning has been done by the president, Engineering Dean Joseph Elgin, Professor Richard H. Wilhelm, chairman of the department of chemical engineering, and members of the engineering faculty. The project coincides with planning for a future physical development of the School of Engineering, including a five-unit quadrangle.

Ike Over Ave

A solid majority of the state's voters—more than two out of every three—questioned by the New Jersey Poll in a survey completed this month say they would vote for Dwight D. Eisenhower if he were running for President on the Republican ticket against Governor Averell Harriman of New York on the Democratic ticket.

About three in every 10 say they would vote for Governor Harriman, In other words, at the present time, New Jersey voters prefer Ike over Ave for President by a margin of better than two to one and, if the Presidential election were held now, President Eisenhower probably would run better against the governor than he did against Adlai Stevenson in 1952.

Highlight of the pre-surgery survey is the division of sentiment among the state's Independent voters — those who classify themselves as neither Republicans nor Democrats. Among the state's Independents, President Eisenhower outpolls Governor Harriman by a margin of 14 to 5.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER: This was a big week for Col. Bernard A. Tormey (left), 25 Hawthorne Avenue, and his son, Capt. James H. Tormey, an officer in the Army Engineers. They both received advanced degrees at Princeton University's Commencement exercises, the father taking his M.A. in the Department of Modern Languages and the younger Tormey earning his M.S.E. in Civil Engineering. Both graduates of West Point, the pair will head soon for Heidelberg, Germany, where Capt. Tormey has been assigned to duty and Col. Tormey, retired, has decided to study for a year before returning to Princeton to begin writing his doctoral dissertation. Col. Tormey served on General MacArthur's staff during World War II, while Capt. Tormey served in the Korean conflict.

Miss Priscilla Cortelyou, another graduate of Wooster College this June, will be in charge of the Erdman Avenue wading pool, while Mrs. Mary B. Moss will be supervisor of the John Street pool. She will be assisted by Miss Susan Upshur, who has been on the staff for two years.

Mrs. Dorothy Kauhl, a newcomer to the staff and a teacher in the Princeton school system, will supervise activities at Marquand Park. Miss Jessie Hurd, a veteran staff member, will return as supervisor of the Pine Street pool.

B. E. Bergesen, the commissioner of the YMCA Midget League, will direct the activities of the Junior Baseball League for the second year. Mrs. Anna Lanahan, an experienced member of the staff, will conduct a handicraft program at all the playgrounds and pools.

Richard Lanahan, a student at Dartmouth College, will resume the task of directing the Community Championship tennis tournaments. He is former Junior Boys' and Men's Doubles champion of Princeton.

Kiwanis Theatre Party. A benefit performance of "Plain and Fancy" at the Lambertville Music Circus on July 15 has been scheduled by the Princeton Kiwanis Club as one of the fund-raising projects. All proceeds will go to the Kiwanis community aid program.

ADVERTISING VOLUME is based on results. That's why, week in and week out, TOWN TOPICS has double the classified advertising volume of all other Princeton papers combined.

President Richard Chorlton announced that David N. Penrose will head the committee for the project. He will be assisted by Thomas Foody, who will serve as ticket chairman, and Ray Arrowsmith, who will be in charge of advertising solicitation for the special program which the club will put out.

Ticket sales will be divided between two teams, captained by Dr. Russell Edmonds and Delwin Gregory. The team which sells the most tickets and advertisements in dollar sales will be given a dinner at the expense of the losing team. There will be an additional prize for the highest individual total.

Tickets are presently on sale at Yeoman's Liquor Store and the University Store, in Princeton; the Center Stationery Store, at the Shopping Center; and the Jigger Shop in Lawrenceville.

CLIMBING INTO THE PRprinceton SKY: Workmen atop the fast-growing east wall of the new St. Paul's Church at Nassau and Moore Streets give an indication of the overall size of the handsome edifice. Largely thanks to their efforts (and improved weather in recent weeks), foremen on the job were able to offer an "on schedule" report this week, meaning the Catholic structure probably will be ready, as planned, for Christmas services. The adjacent rectory and convent, both beyond the church's east wall, were finished and dedicated several weeks ago. Contractor for the project is John McShain Inc. of Trenton. (Richards Photo).

But Mom probably appreciates an extra phone even more. She's home the most. And anything that saves as many steps as an extension is a boon to her.

Dad, of course, is happy for both reasons. Plus the fact an extension costs only 75¢ a month.

Sports in Princeton

The End of a Fine Career. As shortstop Ron Cheney of Yale gathered in a pop fly for the final out against Princeton Saturday (giving the Elis a 6-1 triumph), a fine baseball career came to an end. The losing pitcher was Jim Gibson, and it was unfortunate that he could not have finished on a triumphant note, but the defeat could not dim the ceaseless effort and solid know-how that the Tiger captain put into every motion on the field.

The incredibly weak-hitting Princetonians faced the ignominy of a no-hitter as late as the last half of the eighth. Then, with only four outs to go, it was Gibson who laced a clean single across second base into centerfield to break the hitless skein Yale's Ken MacKenzie was spinning.

In the ninth, the Tiger pitcher covered first beautifully on a sharp grounder to Bill Agnew to make the put out and then raced toward second for a possible pick-off play on an Eli runner rounding that bag. The game was beyond recall at that point, but Gibson was battling as hard as ever.

Like Royce Flippin in football, John DeVoe in basketball and Gabe Markisohn in track, his career as a senior had been curtailed. A virus in mid-May kept him out of action for two weeks and he never regained the form that had given him an 0.54 earned run average and a 4-0 mark in league competition.

At Class Day exercises on Monday, they gave Gibby the Kafer Trophy. Suitably, it is awarded to:

"The player best exemplifying observance of the rules and fairness towards opponents; loyalty and devotion to Princeton's baseball interests; courage, manliness, self-control and modesty; and perseverance and determination under discouraging conditions."

Gibson, heading for a three-year stint in the Navy, has no thoughts of a professional career. His three-year record at Princeton, however, (during which he compiled a fine won-lost record of 11 and 4) has made a particularly pleasant contribution to Princeton baseball.

Good Job by Donovan. It was a great credit to soft-spoken, taciturn Eddie Donovan, too, that he got Princeton into a playoff for the league title this year. Save for Gibson and Ford, no member of the team had a particularly good season.

Costly errors cropped up at frequent intervals and the highest average anyone could attain was Agnew's .250. It was also the first Princeton team within memory to go through the season without hitting a home run.

Nonetheless, Donovan's entry finished ahead of eight others in the ten-team circuit and very nearly won the title outright before the playoff became necessary. As Charlie Caldwell told him, "I don't know how you ever got so much mileage out of those guys."

Saturday's game was not much of a contest after the Elis pushed three runs across in the top of the fourth. They added another in the fifth when Ken MacKenzie got a triple after two Princeton outfielders slowed their pursuit of the long fly in the belief that the other might catch it.

Two more in the ninth wrapped matters up for the Blue, which thus took the rubber game between the teams. The Tigers finished with an 11-9-1 mark, dropping six of their last eight games. That, of course, was the period when Gibson was waylaid by the virus.

Tigers a Threat at Syracuse. Backed by the knowledge that his varsity has turned in the best three-year time trial ever credited to a Princeton crew on Lake Carnegie, Dutch Schoch is looking for a good performance from the Orange and Black Saturday at Syracuse. The big genial Washington alumnus is not predicting victory in the national regatta but he did comment before leaving that "we're going up with a better varsity than we had in 1952, when we finished second."

Cornell, defending champion, is favored to repeat, with Schoch's alma mater also a good bet. Hopes are, however, that Prince-

Tell-Tale Figures

Princeton's weak-hitting baseball team very probably set a modern record last Saturday when it finished its season with a batting average of .199. It is believed to be the lowest mark for an Orange and Black nine since World War I.

The Tigers very nearly were victims of successive no-hitters, since they did not collect a safe blow until two were out in the eighth inning of the Yale game, after they had gone hitless the previous Wednesday against Lafayette. Counting the final two innings at New Haven on June 2, Princeton went 18 2/3 consecutive innings without making a hit.

Indicative of the devious ways in which they managed to score without ability to hit is the manner in which they pushed across their only runs last week. At Lafayette, Bill Agnew got to second on a two-base error, went to third on a fielder's choice and scored on a dropped strike that would have been the third out. Against Yale, the Tiger first baseman got on when he was hit, took second on a balk, third on a passed ball and came home on an infield out.

ton will have the power and the balance to place at least as high as third.

Dutch has switched his strokes, moving Dave Robinson into the varsity and dropping Ken Blaydow back to the jayvees. Robinson was the varsity stroke in 1955 but started last late this season because of his duties as hockey goalie. Neil Chrisman, a sophomore, also goes with the first bont as the two oar, with Jeff Carstens now rowing in the jayvee shell.

The Tigers lost a practice race on Carnegie last week to the Navy Admirals, 1952 Olympic champions who will make a bid for international honors again. The former midshipmen finished first over a 2,000-meter course by a length and a half, a result that did not discourage Schoch. He thinks the Naval Academy graduates "look as good as they ever were four years ago, and their added years give them a lot more maturity."

Flippin and Agnew Honored. Royce Flippin and Bill Agnew, who played together in the same backfield and on the same side of the diamond for three years, shared something else this week. They were named co-recipients of the Roper Trophy, highest honor Princeton can confer on an athlete. The award Monday marked the first time the trophy has been given on a joint

NEXT YEAR'S CAPTAIN: Ed McMillan, veteran catcher and son of an All-American football player at Princeton in 1924, has been named to lead the 1957 baseball team.

Presented by Mrs. William W. Roper in memory of her husband, long-time Princeton football coach, the award goes to the junior "who best combines high scholastic rank, outstanding qualities of sportsmanship and general proficiency in athletics."

Two Princeton residents were among those honored. The Bonthron Trophy in track went to Captain Gahe Markison of 9 Mercer Street and the Rosengarten Cross-Country Trophy was won by Landon Dennison, Jr., of 48 Patton Avenue.

Ford Top Pitcher. Leigh Ford compiled a dazzling 0.38 earned run average to lead all other pitchers in the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League, according to final statistics released this week. He was followed by Jim Gibson with an 0.92 mark. Gibson was 4-0 but Ford was no better than 3-2 because in 19 innings against Army and Yale, the Tigers got him exactly one run.

Navy's Dave Smalley hit at a .419 clip to take league batting averages. Flippin batted an even .300 (almost 100 points above his overall average) to rank as the only Princetonian in the top dozen batters.

Tennis Starts Monday. The first of the summer tennis tournaments sponsored by the Princeton Playgrounds Committee will start Monday afternoon. Matches are played on the University's Church Courts.

One tournament will be staged for boys 15 and under, and a second for those 16 to 18. All girls will compete in a tournament of their own.

All of last year's champions are expected to defend their titles. They are John Chandler, boys' 16 to 18; Dave Smoyer, boys' 15 and under; and Martha Roubinger, girls.

Entries may be made through Friday at the YMCA, 120 John Street (tel. 3630) or through Richard Lanahan, tournament director. Each contestant is required to furnish three new balls.

Entries may also be made now for men's singles, starting July 9; women's singles, July 16; mixed doubles, July 23; and men's doubles, July 30. Registration may be made through the "Y," with a fee of 50 cents and three new balls required.

Bi - County Loop Set. Four teams will start play next week in the popular Bi-County Baseball League, with the Princeton Athletic Club again ready to represent Princeton in the loop. Games will be scheduled every Tuesday and Friday evening during the nine-week season, the latter being the Princeton club's home night.

Other nines entered in the league this season are Princeton Junction, South Brunswick Township and Montgomery Township. The P.A.C. will open its competition with an encounter in Montgomery Township, then will commence its home slate next Friday at Brokaw Field.

Cherles Perpetua, 1956 manager-pitcher for the Princeton group, said he will have ample personnel on his roster to handle all contests without running into absenteeism. Last year, the P.A.C. was obliged to forfeit its final playoff games with Montgomery —after winning the series opener —because of its inability to field a full team.

So far, Perpetua has only eight men for his nine, including himself, but he was confident that he will have a 15-man squad available by next week. Included on the roster are Lee Ammerman, Pete Johnson, Bobby Montgomery, Bill Rodefeld, Robin Foster, Bill Rooney and Dick Berry.

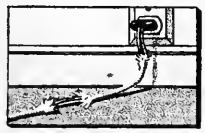
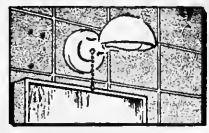
Safety Tips by Reddy Kilowatt®

FALLEN OVERHEAD WIRES . . . are usually the result of severe storms. Fallen wires may be alive. NEVER touch them. Notify Public Service immediately and warn others of possible danger.



INSULATION . . . the protective covering on extension cords and electrical wiring is your protection against fires and shock. Cords, lamp sockets and appliances should be carefully and regularly inspected and repaired if defective.



SOCKETS . . . when used in bathrooms and damp places, should be of porcelain or moulded composition. Insulating material should be used in metal pull chains. Avoid touching metal sockets and appliances while standing on a wet floor, while taking a bath, or touching radiators or other plumbing.

FUSES . . . are electrical safety valves. Blowing a fuse is a warning of overloading or defective wiring. The fault cannot be corrected by inserting a larger size fuse. Always replace a blown fuse with one of proper rating.

ADDITIONAL WIRING . . . on your premises should be installed only by a responsible electrician. More and more homeowners are insisting on FULL HOUSEPOWER . . . proper wiring to safely and conveniently handle all of today's modern electric appliances.

Yankees vs. Pirates. Far-fetched as it may sound, the Yankees will play the Pirates in a World Series this week—in Princeton. Of course, the participants will be Midget Leaguers, not Major Leaguers, but their big-time counterparts could conceivably be World Series opponents come fall, what with the way Pittsburgh is surprising all comers, and then only the location would be different than this week's.

Princeton's Yanees, sponsored by Hulit's shoe store, will represent the YMCA Midget loop's American division against the National division's Pirates, sponsored by the Plainsboro Lions Club. They will meet at 6 p.m. Thursday and Friday at Brokaw Field and, if a third game is necessary, will play the "rubber" contest at 10 a.m. Saturday.

The Yankees won their second American title in a row with a solid 10-2-1 record, and will be defending their 1955 World Series crown when they go into action this week. The Pirates, in taking their first Midget championship, were obliged to triumph in their final encounter of the regular season Monday night in order to keep ahead of Township Police Pistol Club's Cardinals and pace the National division with an 8-2-1 mark.

Non-Political Race Won

Moving with even greater speed than he does while conducting Princeton's oft-speedy Borough Council meetings, Mayor P. Mackay Sturges raced to a noteworthy triumph last weekend in the 19th annual spring cruise off Shelter Island, L. I., in Gardiner's Bay. The Mayor's sleek 45-foot sloop, Sapphire, took two-day Class A-1 honors in the big yacht get-together, sponsored by the Off Soundings Club.

Taking full advantage of Saturday's fast—though somewhat chilly and bumpy—conditions, Mayor Sturges' small craft finished four minutes ahead of runner-up Cyane, a 46-foot sloop sailed by Rear Commodore Henry B. duPont, of Pine Orchard, Conn., and Wilmington, Del. This effort, which gave the Princetonian n top-rung totnl corrected time for two days of racing, also earned him sports page headlines along the yacht-conscious eastern seaboard.

Mayor Sturges' victory aide was Rod Stephens, commodore of the sponsoring Off Soundings Club, who — curiously — put up the Class A-1 trophy that the mayor brought home with him. For the record, the Princeton yachtsman defeated 35 other entrants, many of them veteran racing men, in earning his impressive divisional win.

Canadian and American high school students who will take part in "United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth," an annual trip sponsored by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. She will represent Nassau Lodge No. 106, IOOF.

The young delegates, who number more than 600 boys and girls, are from every province of Canada and every state of the Union. They are 16 or 17 years old and expect to be juniors or seniors in high school this fall.

To accommodate the large group, the Pilgrimage has been divided into six periods of six days each in New York City. Miss Bedford will take part in the second period, beginning in New York City June 24. She will be traveling with two bus loads from Denver and the Southern states.

The entourage will stay at the Hotel Claridge on Times Square. Besides their visit to the UN, the group will also have a three-hour boat trip around Manhattan Island, make a guided tour of Rockefeller Center, attend a show at the Radio City Music Hall and visit the Statue of Liberty.

YWCA Summer Trips. The International Club of the Princeton YWCA will sponsor a series of trips this summer open to all YWCA members and their friends. The first "trip" will be an "open house" at 202 Nassau Street, where Tildy Stettler and Elizabeth Genton will serve as hostesses.

Other trips planned are: June 21 — a journey to Music Circus to see "The King and I; June 28 — a picnic at Washington's Crossing; July 5 — another "open house" at 202 Nassau Street; July 12 — to be announced; July 14 — a trip to the UN and a boat ride around Manhattan; July 19 — a "swimming session" in a private outdoor pool; July 26 — a trip to Manasquan Beach.

YWCA Workshops. The Y-Teen Department of the Princeton YWCA is planning two workshops as part of its summer program. A Variety Workshop, which will include textile painting on glass and cloth and leather work, with concentration on Pennsylvania Dutch designs, will be taught by Mrs. Peggy Myles at a cost of $5 for ten lessons, plus membership fee.

A Sewing Workshop, under the direction of Mrs. Philmore Scudder, will cost $3 for ten lessons. Both these courses will begin July 2 and meet twice a week. High school girls who are interested in joining either group may register at the YWCA office, 4 Green Street.

Wild Game Association Meets. The Cherry Valley Wild Game Protective Association made plans for a drive for new members at a meeting held at the home of Melville M. Wilson on Mountain View Road. L. G. MacNamara, superintendent of Game Management of The Department of Conservation and Economic Development ,was the guest speaker.

Mr. NacNamara described the need for developing a feed supply for wild life. With the aid of colored slides, he demonstrated the work being done by the State in reclaiming marsh lands and developing them into feeding grounds for wild life.

It is the aim of the association to create a wild life refuge that will be a source of interest to this section of New Jersey. Those interested in joining should write or telephone either Mr. Wilson or Mrs. William R. Rossmassler, Mountain View Road.

School Loses Appeal. The Lawrence Township Board of Adjustment was upheld this week in an appeal made against its decision in the case of Shipetaukin Country Day School. The request to the board had sought permission to construct a swimming pool for use with the school.

Superior Court Judge Howard Ewart heard the case and based his dismissal on the lack of competent and credible evidence on what transpired at the two hearings before the Board. It was his feeling that certain facts were inadmissible, inasmuch as witnesses were not sworn, exhibits were not properly marked and deficiencies existed in recording the proceedings.

Judge Ewart declared, however, that "inasmuch as the record presented does not permit of a decision on the real merits of the case, it will be without prejudice to the right of the plaintiff to institute a new application before the Board of Adjustment for a variance at which a new hearing may be held and at which proofs may be presented and a record made." He also commented:

"If further litigation in this court becomes necessary, it may be that the plaintiff would be well-advised to insert a separate count in its complaint, seeking a declaratory judgment as to the meaning and interpretation of certain phraseology contained in the zoning ordinance." Francis J. Strapp represented Lawrence Township.

Bruce H. French, attorney for the school, is of the opinion that the municipality's zoning ordinance, properly interpreted, permits the school and day camp to build a pool without the use of a variance. He has predicted a decision in the school's favor if another appeal is made, but hopes for the necessary permission from the municipality short of that step.

Year's End. Lawrenceville School held its 156th commencement exercises Saturday with the headmaster, Dr. Allan V. Heely, presiding. Edwin M. Lavino, President of the Board of Trustees, presented 156 diplomas to the Class of 1956.

Announcement was made during the exercises in Edith Memorial Chapel of the award of the Lawrence Township scholarship to Duncan S. McGowan, son of Major General and Mrs. Donald W. McGowan of 37 Eggerts Road, Trenton. The award was based on his school record, his promise as a student and allround citizen of the school.

Diplomas to Two. Two residents of Lawrenceville were among the members of the Class of 1956 at Princeton who received diplomas on Tuesday.

They are Earl K. Snedeker, Jr., 46 Green Avenue, and Furman T. Updike, Jr., 14 Hendrickson Road. Mr. Snedker received a bachelor of science in engineering and Mr. Updike a bachelor of arts degree.

Miscellany. Sons have been born at Princeton Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Mooney, 42 Cedar Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford L. Lamar, 129 Loomis Court; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Kokesh, 30 Humbert Street; Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Donaldson, 162 Library Place; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Amalfitano, Rocky Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Leif Larsen, Sunset Hill, RD 1.

Parents of daughters include Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Rogers, Rocky Hill; Mr. and Mrs. George H. Sands, 910 Kingston Road; Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Davidson, 100 Stockton Street; Mr. and Mrs. Willard F. Hamilton, Grovers Mill Road, Princeton Junction; Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Thornton, 16 Lafayette Road, Hopewell; Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson, RD 1; Dr. and Mrs. Archibald Sheeran, Rosedale Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Servis, Jr., 173 Valley Road, are the parents of a dnughter by adoption.

Members of the Princeton High School Class of 1936 interested in buying copies of the 20th reunion picture taken at the dinner dance should place their orders with Mrs. Mary Mack Hulit, 110 Moore Street, by Saturday, June 23.

The talent and beauty contest scheduled for Sunday by Khufu Temple No. 120, Shriners, and Khufu Court No. 118, Daughters of Isis, has been postponed until July 1.

The Folk Dance and Square Dance Group meeting each Tuesday will hold its program next Tuesday at the Graduate College near the front parking lot. Meetings (open to the public) will be held each Tuesday at 8:30.

Awards at the final meeting of Cub Scout Pack 77 went to Michael Davis, Mack Masterton, David Metzger, Arthur Anderson and Peter Terry. Don Sieja was awarded a cup for winning the annual marbles tournament, while second and third prizes went to Jimmy Moran and Richard Lutz.

Miss Margaret Haseltine of Griggstown is chairman of the Town Club sailing party to be held Friday through Sunday. Members will take a cruise on the schooner "Northwind" on Long Island Sound.
